Save Energy, Save Money, And Make Your Home More Comfortable

No one likes to waste money. But that's precisely what you may be doing if your home isn't energy efficient.

To understand how your home uses energy, think of your home as a system of interrelated parts—appliance, lighting, heating systems, and your home's structure itself.

By improving one part of this system, such as insulation, you will affect the rest of the system. These improvements can also enhance your comfort, health, home durability, and reduce energy use.

The NHSaves@Home/Home Energy Solutions Program from Public Service of New Hampshire helps you maximize the energy efficiency of your home. PSNH will pay up to $4,000 for efficiency improvements that will reduce electric usage. These services are tailored to meet the specific energy needs of your home.

Public Service of New Hampshire had initially offered this program to customers who have permanently installed electric heat. The program is now being offered to help customers with other types of heating fuels as well.

With just a few cost-effective changes, you can significantly reduce your energy bills.

How The Program Works

1. Complete and return the attached reply card. Include fossil fuel consumption for the last 12 months (see form).
2. One of our Energy Auditors will contact you to discuss your qualifications and schedule an audit as appropriate.
3. Using advanced diagnostic techniques, our Auditor will measure the overall energy efficiency of your home, which includes appliances, lighting, heating system, and building components.
4. The light fixtures, compact fluorescent lamps and low flow water saving devices you select will be installed at the time of your audit.
5. Upon completion of the audit, the Auditor will then create a Home Energy Assessment Report. This Assessment prioritizes the specific improvements which can reduce your home's energy use while increasing comfort levels.
6. After you receive your report, you can then review this data with your Auditor, who will answer any questions you may have about the savings, improvements, how/when they are installed etc. PSNH will pay for the audit fee and the electric saving measures. Customers will pay for the fossil fuel savings measures.
7. Upon your approval, the Auditor will then schedule skilled subcontractors to make the necessary energy efficient improvements to your home.
8. The Auditor will inspect all work when completed.
